SENIOR PROM FRIDAY NIGHT

Commencement Exercises To Be Broadcasted

SOCIAL FUNCTIONS PLANNED FOR GRADS

Senior Prom At New Willard
Friday Outstanding Affair
of Senior Week

TWO RECEPTIONS LISTED

Alumni and President and Mrs. Lewis
To Hold Receptions

Gay colored posters of all kinds all over school have told the story of the Senior Prom, which will be held Friday night in the large ball room of the New Willard Hotel from 10.00 until 2.00. The Prom will be the crowning event of an eventful University social calendar for the year, and promises to be a fitting climax to the dazzling affairs held earlier in the year.

The committee has undertaken the task of making this Prom something more than the typical, stereotyped University dance. The class of '25 has the reputation of discarding old and useless precedents and customs and of promulgating and adopting innovations. For this reason many unusual features may be expected.

Programs in keeping with the occasion have been secured—programs which will remind the Senior of that last great night before he stepped out into actual life. Likewise, the favors for the ladies have a peculiar appeal to the "sweet girl graduate."

Meyer Davis' orchestras will furnish music for the entire evening. Whether refreshments will be served is still a secret. The committee also refuses to divulge information about other features of the Prom.

Although the Prom is open to all students in the University, an especial effort is being made to have all the Seniors present, because this will be the last social function which many of them will be able to attend at the University.

The Prom is the second social event

UNIVERSITY TO HOLD "HIGH SCHOOL NIGHT"

George Washington Students to Entertain High School Seniors
Thursday Night in Gym

Seniors in all Washington High Schools have been invited to attend the first annual "High School Night" to be given by the University Thursday evening, May 28th, in the new gymnasium. The event, which is the first of its kind to be held in the school, will become a regular feature of Senior Week in years to come.

Plans for entertainment of the guests include a program of three acts taken from the Vodovil, one play taken from the Dramatic Festival, and dancing until 11.30 p. m. All students in the University are urged to attend to aid in reception of the high school seniors and contribute to the success of the occasion.

Previous to the entertainment a supper will be given to members of the Girls' Rifle, Tennis, and Basketball teams of the various high schools, with members of the George Washington University Girls' Rifle, Tennis and Basketball squads as hostesses. Following the supper both guests and hostesses will attend the high school reception.

Acts selected for presentation from the "Vodovil" include Kid Hercu in his marvelous one-man wrestling exhibition, "The Masked Marvel," Louise Espey's historic masterpiece, "Ain't It a Shame," and the little three-act sketch, "In the Usual Way."

In addition the Mimes will present their one-act play, "Society Notes," which won the loving cup offered by Phi Delta Gamma as the best presentation given in the Dramatic Festival. The cast is made up of Mary Keane, Lora Gates, Mary Griffith, Ben Cain, Raymond Johnson, and Stanley Brandenburg.

Exercises At Washington Auditorium Next Wednesday to Be Broadcasted by WCAP; Dr. Fosdick to Speak

Next Wednesday evening, beginning promptly at 8.00 o'clock, George Washington University will graduate "on the air." Nearly five hundred students in the various departments of the University will receive degrees, and honorary degrees will be conferred upon four prominent alumni of the University.

George Washington will probably have the distinction of being the first university in the country to broadcast their commencement exercises. Arrangements have been made with the WCAP broadcasting station to broadcast the services for one hour, from 8.05 to 9.05.

This time is definite and the exercises will therefore start promptly. Commencement will be held in the new Washington Auditorium, 19th and E Streets. Graduates for degrees will assemble in academic dress at 7.30 in the basement of the Auditorium. The academic procession, composed of candidates for degrees, members of the faculties, the University Council and the Board of Trustees, will enter the Auditorium promptly at 7.45 inasmuch as the exercises are to be broadcasted.

Reverend Doctor Harry Emerson Fosdick will deliver the Commencement address. Dr. Fosdick has for some time been a member of the faculty of the General Theological Seminary of New York, and has recently accepted a call to the ministry of the Park Avenue Baptist Church of New York City.

Approximately five hundred students will receive degrees at the Wednesday Commencement. Of these 150 will be conferred by each Columbian College and the Law School. Teachers' College, Engineering College and the School of Graduate Studies will each confer about fifty, while thirty-five from the Medical School, three from the School of Pharmacy and twelve nurses complete the list.

Candidates for degrees are expected to get their caps and gowns at the baccalaureate sermon next Sunday afternoon, and keep them for the Class Day exercises and Commencement. They must be returned in the basement of the Auditorium Wednesday night after the Commencement exercises.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached by the Right Reverend Henry St. George Tucker, President of the Theological Seminary of Virginia. Candidates for degrees, members of the Faculties, the University Council and the Board of Trustees will assemble in academic dress at 2.00 o'clock in Corcoran Hall. The sermon will be at 2.30 on the University campus, weather permitting; otherwise it will be in the Assembly Room of Corcoran Hall. All Seniors are urged to attend, and to get their cap and gown, which will have to be used at the Class Day exercises and the Commencement, and which can be returned in the basement of the Auditorium Wednesday night after the exercises.

LEWIS WILL SPEAK AT SEVEN SCHOOL FINALS

After bringing the school year at George Washington officially to a close President William Mather Lewis will begin a series of commencement speaking engagements at Universities and High Schools extending throughout the month of June.

On May 26 he will address the graduating class of Gunston Hall. June 5 he will journey to Winston-Salem to speak at high school commencement exercises. On June 9 he is scheduled to speak at West Virginia University and on the following day at the University of Buffalo, N. Y. The Tower Hill School at Wilmington, Del., has asked him to address its graduating class June 11. The next day he will be commencement speaker at the Alexandria High School exercises, and June 18 will address students at Norwich Military University.

Hatchet Editorial Board Appointed for 1925-1926

Hatchet Put On New Editorial Basis By Faculty Committee On Activities

Paper Controlled by Editorial Board Made Up of Reed, Randolph, Albright, James, Baggett, and Ottman—Albright Elected Managing Editor and Reed Business Manager

As the result of a ruling made by the Faculty Committee on Student Activities at a meeting last Tuesday, the University Hatchet will henceforth be run on a new editorial basis. The positions of Editor in Chief and Associate Editor have been done away with, and in their place a Board of Editors created, which is vested with control of the publication.

Those appointed to the Editorial Board are Frances Randolph, Raymond Reed, Robert Albright, Henry James, Howard Baggett, and Millard Ottman. The Board at its first meeting Friday night elected Robert Albright, managing editor, and Raymond Reed, business manager.

Professor Henry Grattan Doyle, chairman of the Publications Council, was present and explained the new system, which it is thought will do much toward bring about a better paper in the future, as well as giving a larger number of students editorial training. The Board elected Frances Randolph secretary of the meetings, and third representative on the Publications Council.

The rules as adopted by the Faculty Committee provide for the selection of an Editorial Board yearly from a list submitted by the chairman of the list (Continued on Page 2)

MT. VERNON PILGRIMAGE FOR SENIORS MONDAY

Major General John A. LeJune, Commandant of the United States Marine Corps, will deliver an address at the placing of the wreath on the tomb of General Washington at Mount Vernon next Monday. Since time immemorial the graduating classes of George Washington University have made their annual pilgrimage to Mount Vernon to pay homage at the tomb of that great leader.

A special boat has been chartered and the entire class will attend in a body. The boat leaves the wharf at the foot of 7th Street promptly at 10 o'clock. Special rates have been secured, and tickets including round trip transportation, admission to the grounds, and luncheon may be secured at the Treasurer's office or from members of the Senior Week Committees. The boat will return in time for those going to Mount Vernon to also attend the Faculty-Pyramid baseball game which will be held at the Eastern High School stadium beginning at 2.30 p. m.

TO RECEIVE CHERRY TREE BY COMMENCEMENT WEEK

The long-looked-for and much heralded Cherry Tree is to make its appearance during Senior Week. This was announced by the board last week and Bettelheim also says that as soon as the annual is off the press notices will be posted and subscribers may receive their copies at the Metropolitan Bank Building, Room 319, upon presentation of receipt.

The annual was delayed somewhat by an effort on the part of the editors to include all the events of the year in its pages. However, every effort is being made to expedite matters and special inducements are being offered to the printers to rush the work.

From a financial standpoint the book has been a complete success, practically the entire issue being sold out. There are about twenty unsold copies remaining, and these will be disposed of to the first to mail their applications and check for the full amount ($4.00) to: Bettelheim, Room 319, Metropolitan Bank Building. It is absolutely necessary that a check accompany these applications and the copies will be reserved in the order that the applications are received.

Faculties and Members Senior Classes to Attend Program in Academic Dress; All Urged to Be Present

For the first time in the history of the University the graduating classes of George Washington will stage a real Class Day program, which will be held next Wednesday, June 3, on the University campus at 10.15. This is a new undertaking and it is as essential that Seniors be present at the Class Day exercises as at the Commencement that evening.

The Faculties and members of the graduating classes will participate in cap and gown. Members of the Faculties will assemble in academic dress at 10.00 o'clock in the second floor corridor of Corcoran Hall; members of the graduating classes will assemble in academic dress in the first floor corridor at the same time.

The exercises will be opened with the entrance of the Senior classes, followed by the Faculties. The honor guests, Class presidents and orators will be escorted to the raised platform by pages from the Sophomore class.

The Senior presidents will each give a short talk. Following these talks the Salutatory address will be delivered by Robert Gordon, of the Law School, who has the second highest scholastic average in the University. Dr. Katherine Symmonds, Medical School Senior, will be Class Historian, and Ida May Lang will be Class Poet.

William Middleton will give the Class Prophecy. After the Class Prophecy Louise Espey will deliver the cherry tree oration at the planting of a cherry tree.

As a part of the closing ceremonies a Mantle Oration will be delivered by Helen Loring Bryant, at which time the mantle of the Senior classes will be turned over to the Juniors and they will be duly proclaimed the Senior Class thereafter. Ernest Wilkinson, president of the Junior Class of the Law School, will receive the mantle on behalf of the new Seniors.

The Valedictory address by Harold Wheeler, of the Engineering College, who was chosen as Class Valedictorian because he has made the highest scholastic average during his college course, will close the program. Music and Class and University songs will be included in the program.

G. W. ENTRANT SECOND IN ORATORICAL FINAL

Ruth Newburn Defeated By George A. Creitz, of Franklin and Marshall, in Finals.

George A. Creitz, of Franklin and Marshall College, was chosen to represent the Eastern District in the National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest. Miss Ruth Newburn, of George Washington, was given second place.

The tryouts to determine the winner were held Friday evening, May 15, in Corcoran Hall. Other contestants were Eugene Carstatter, Bucknell University; Selden Y. Trimble, Jr., Swarthmore College; Freda Wadsworth, Cedar Crest College; E. B. Everitt, State College, Pa.; P. A. Heist, Muhlenburg College.

Mr. Creitz, or in case of his inability Miss Newburn, will go to Los Angeles, Calif., on June 5, and compete for the final prizes ranging from $2,000 to $300.

This contest is being conducted by the Better America Federation of California. The orations all dealt with the "Constitution." Their purpose was to increase interest in and respect for the Constitution.

Prof. Gilbert Hale, of the Law School, presided at the meeting May 15. The judges were three members of Delta Sigma Rho, Charles D. Hamal, of Kansas; Arthur H. Fast, of the University of Kansas, and Mr. Ernest H. Van Fossan, of Oberlin and Columbia.

SUCCESS AND FAILURE

Exams are over, and whether we failed or not we have finished. During the next few days, while we are waiting for that "reward for four years of conscientious effort" we may well look back over the past few months upon our failures as well as our accomplishments, and to give some serious consideration to policies for the future.

Looking back over the football record we find that last season was one of the most successful in years. Also the one year rule is to be installed with the opening of the 1926 season; and although the schedule for next fall may not be all that some students could desire, yet the University will undoubtedly assume a position with the ranking institutions of the country within the next two or three years—and the lion's share of credit is undoubtedly due the new coach.

Basketball has been equally successful during the past season, and judging next year's schedule which has just been announced the Buff and Blue cagemen will be seen in action against some of the leading teams of the country next year. The women's team was fully as successful during the past season as the men's.

The rifle teams, both have made a clean sweep and still maintain their standing among the leading marksmen of the country. The track squad determined not to be outclassed by other athletic groups, have exceeded all former records and placed a team in the field which has swept everything before it, taking the dual meets from Catholic University, University of Maryland and Gallaudet with wide margins.

In addition to the team accomplishments several individual stars have won national distinction. Among them are Walter Shipley, star distance runner, who recently set a new record for the five mile run; Carter Baum, Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate tennis champion; and Albert Lyman, holder of the South Atlantic diving championship.

Forensic teams representing the University have been equally successful; the men's debating team winning every intercollegiate contest this year and the women bowing to defeat but twice. The Men's Glee Club, after displaying rare talent at the many concerts given over the city during the past winter, is now entering upon a week's engagement at the Rialto Theater.

Much of the progress in student activities during the past year, as compared with former years, is due to the activities fee charged all full time students this year for the first time. The new method of administering student activities funds and of supervising activities in general was undertaken as an experiment. The fruits of one year seem to warrant its further continuance. Undoubtedly many weak spots will be found, but they can be remedied with time.

So much for the accomplishments; little has been said about our failures—those things usually come on "little slips of paper called flunk slips." They are always unwelcome. But if we follow the advice given by President Lewis in his last assembly talk to the students even our failures can be overcome. "With all the pleasures we may meet, we should not give up that which makes our University life worth while."

OUR LAST ISSUE

It is with a feeling of deep regret, as well as a sigh of relief, that we lay down the editorial duties to those who, in the order of things, must take up those duties where we leave off. Doubtless there was never a Hatchet editor who did not embark upon his duties filled with constructive policies, determined to contribute something new to the field of college journalism. Doubtless there has never been a Hatchet editor who has retired from duty and been able to boast of the fulfillment of his ambitions.

It is the desire of every Hatchet staff to be of the greatest possible service to the student body and the University as a whole. Unselfish service has been our chief goal during the past year, and as the present editors retire from the scene those who will pilot the paper next year will pursue the same course. The Hatchet should be the true organ of student opinion. If we have failed in this it is not through lack of application.

The Hatchet has kept pace with the forward movement of other student activities in the University. The circulation was increased four-fold last fall, and for the first time the Hatchet has been furnished to every student registered in the University. This alone has served to bring students into closer contact with their university, and to give them a broader view of the activities of their fellow students, and also open a greater field of service for the Hatchet.

Under the present plan of administration the Hatchet has also been placed on a sound financial basis. The space formerly devoted to advertising has been greatly reduced and more than twice as much space devoted to news as formerly.

The Hatchet has had a much larger staff than was formerly necessary. The staff members have been most diligent and faithful in their work. Of those on the staff nearly a dozen have displayed ability which would warrant their appointment as editor. From these members an editorial board of six have been chosen to replace the editor and business manager of past years. All are eminently qualified to fill the position to which they have been appointed, and are undoubtedly capable of publishing a still better Hatchet next year. They are deserving of the entire confidence and support of the students and faculty.

During the past months both the faculty and the student body have been most helpful in their cooperation with the Hatchet. To them the staff is desirous of extending an expression of their appreciation.

Of those upon whose shoulders the burden of responsibility is to fall next year we predict great achievements, and wish them the best of success.

AWARD MIMES PLAYERS PHI DELTA GAMMA CUP

Win Loving Cup For Best Performance in First Dramatic Festival

The silver loving cup, offered by Phi Delta Gamma for the best production during the Dramatic Festival, was won by the Mimes.

Elmer Kayser, representative of Phi Delta Gamma, announced the award at the close of the festival, May 16th, in the new Gymnasium Theater, and turned the cup over to Miss Lionelle Davison, secretary of the winning organization.

The Mimes was organized in 1923, following the presentation of the "Charm School," a three-act play offered as a feature of that year's Junior Week. Since that time a number of plays have been successfully presented in the university by this club, both at private and public performances.

As a member of the recently organized Dramatic Association, the Mimes chose the experimental drama as its field for development, while the other producing clubs decided upon the historical, the musical and modern plays for presentation.

The cup presented for the first time this year will be a permanent trophy and awarded annually to that dramatic club giving the best performance of George Washington's theatrical festival.

The second week of the 1925 Dramatic Festival was opened by the Dionysians May 12th, in the Gymnasium Theater, by their presentation of two one-act plays, "The Duchess of Malfi," by John Webster, and "The Silent Woman," by Ben Jonson. Both plays are of the historical drama, the former a tragedy of the hair-raising variety, the latter an extremely amusing comedy.

The Dionysians were organized this year with the formation of the Dramatic Association, and elected to produce plays of the Elizabethan period, being most interested in that particular phase of dramatics. Their presentation on May 12th opened the way to a new field in George Washington theatrics, and their showing on that night was commendable.

The closing production of the festival was given on May 16th, when the "Miniature Lady," a sprightly musical comedy, was presented by the Troubadours. The cast included a goodly number of musical talent of the university, and songs and dances were well received by the audience.

Success has marked the initiation of the Dramatic Festival at George Washington and, it is believed, warrants its continuance as a major activity.

CARTOONIST SPEAKS TO JOURNALISTIC STUDENTS

Clifford K. Berryman, staff cartoonist of the Washington Star, outlined the uses of the cartoon, the "sixteen-inch gun of the newspaper," in a talk before the evening class in journalism, May 11. The origin of the "Squash Center" cartoons and the story of the Berryman "Teddy Bear" were told by the artist and illustrated by crayon drawings.

"Cartooning is the most fascinating work in the newspaper field," insisted Mr. Berryman.

He went on to tell how he had learned to draw by imitating the artists of Puck and Judge. The cost of his art training was the amount paid for the two magazines; he never had any instruction in drawing. As a clerk in his brother's store he drew pictures on brown wrapping paper until he became proficient in cartooning.

MEN'S DEBATING TEAM TAKE FINAL ENCOUNTER

Close Season With Victory Over Maryland U. Winning Every Debate This Season

Fresh laurels were added to the number already gathered by George Washington in its scholastic achievements this year when the Men's Debating Team won its last encounter of the season Tuesday, May 12, by taking the decision from the University of Maryland orators in a contest marked by skill and ability on both sides. Clarke Beach, Joseph Macko and John McInerney of that university met and fell victims to Crowell, Hoagland and Trimble, while contending for the approval of President Coolidge's action in signing the recent bill providing for an increase in Congressmen's salaries. Superior logic and presentation enabled the George Washington debaters here, as elsewhere this season, to win the verdict.

Review of the season in debating reveals a splendid accomplishment. Both men's and women's teams have met and defeated some of the ablest universities in this part of the country. To the men's team especially is credit due for having won every contest in which they entered. The girls, lost but two of their engagements.

SOCIAL FUNCTIONS PLANNED FOR GRADS

FINE RECORDS MADE BY WOMEN'S TEAMS

Season One of Brightest In History of Co-ed Sports In the University

RIFLE IN LEADING ROLE

Basketball, Tennis, and Intersorority Games Feature In Season's Activities

Women of the university have enjoyed a most successful season in all branches of athletics during the past year, several new sports have been started and advanced, while the records made in the sports already strong have been the best ever turned in by the feminine teams of George Washington University. In former years teams have made many and brilliant records, but there never was a year in the entire history of women's athletic activities under the banner of the Buff and Blue where such consistent good records were turned in by all teams in all branches of sport.

Without doubt the most famous and probably the most notable team in women's sports in the university is the girls' rifle team, acknowledged the foremost prone position team in the entire country and only outranked by the University of Washington State in all around shooting. Five perfect scores of 500 x 500 each, were made by the girls' team at the prone position in telegraph matches this year. Every match of the season was won, as were two shoulder-to-shoulder triangular contests, one held in Philadelphia at Drexel Institute and one on the new gallery under Corcoran Hall. Katherine Edmonston is the retiring captain of the team, which will be captained by Sophia Waldman during the 1926 season. Kay Edmonston has the remarkable record of perfect scores in all matches of the season. Sophia Waldman has been manager of the team during the past season.

Under the able guidance of Miss Mary Jackson, coach, the girls' basketball team turned in eight wins in eleven starts, dropping games only to Temple, Swarthmore, and William and Mary. In a return engagement the William and Mary team was defeated, this being the first time a buff and blue girls' basketball team ever turned the trick. Mary Bixler has been captain during the past season and Alice Haines has had the job of managing the team. Alys Ewers, star forward of the past year's team, has been elected captain for the ensuing year. She and Grace Young, forwards, played through the entire season without being replaced by a substitute. The team made thirteen nines as many points as did their opponents. Sweaters and gold basketballs were presented to ten members of the team at the conclusion of the playing season.

A clean sweep of all women's tennis matches seems evident at the present time, as the girls have defeated some of the strongest teams in the vicinity and in the State of Virginia. Captained by Frances Walker, ranking women tennis player of the university, the team has swept all opponents before them, and has only recently returned from a trip into Virginia, on which trip they decisively defeated the Northampton girls at the University of Richmond, and the William and Mary team. Frances Walker also won the individual trophy cup for the second successive time.

Silver hockey balls were awarded twelve players in this sport at the conclusion of the fall season. Practices are held both in the spring and fall, under the direction of Coach Jackson. Vivian Robb captained the only fall contest—a practice engagement against the Marjory Webster team.

Swimming under the direction of Coach Mary Jackson has been in progress during the winter months at the Y. W. C. A. pool. Efforts were concentrated on the teaching of beginners and only one meet was held. March 25 the team met the Capitol Athletic Club and shared honors evenly.

The intersorority court series resulted in a victory for the Gamma Beta Phi team, who was awarded the Pan-Hellenic loving cup. Six sororities took part in tournament, and honors were not decided until the final game. The winning team won six straight victories, while Chi Omega took second with five wins and one defeat, and Pi Beta Phi third with four wins and two losses.

Sigma Kappa sorority took first honors in the intersorority bowling tournament, winning with a score of 1,114. Chi Omega took second, and Kappa Delta third. This is the first season that a sorority bowling contest has ever been held, but the event is expected to feature the winter athletic activities in future seasons.

MANAGERS ELECTED FOR GRID AND COURT TEAMS

Bucknell Added to Football Schedule; Many Hard Games Before Basketball Quint

Stanley C. Brandenburg, law school student, has been elected manager of football, and Irvin McGrew, Jr., of Columbian College, manager of basketball for the coming season by the Faculty Committee on student activities. These two men are known throughout the University and were very capable assistant managers in their sports during the past season.

The election of Guy Hottel as football captain and Herbert Zollar as basketball captain was also approved by the committee.

Football will begin with a bang in the fall. The first varsity practice will be held Tuesday, September 8, and preparations begun for the opening game against Blue Ridge College, Saturday, September 26.

Bucknell University will be met on the gridiron at Lewisburg, Pa., Saturday, October 10. This game takes the place of a home engagement scheduled with Hampden-Sydney College for that date. Bucknell placed a powerful team on the field last fall, numbering among their victims Georgetown University, and they face even better prospects in the coming year.

At least one other trip is contemplated, and the coach is angling for a game in the South, but nothing of a definite nature is known at this time.

Though almost too early to announce, Coach Crum's basketball schedule is also well on its way toward completion. The schedule as it stands includes a comprehensive trip into Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, when the team will stack up against such excellent teams as West Virginia Wesleyan, University of Pittsburgh, Penn State, West Virginia University, Duquesne University, and Geneva. In addition home games have been scheduled with Lafayette and Washington and Lee. Negotiations are under way for games with Princeton, University of Virginia, Richmond U., Duke, Maryland, Catholic U., Western Maryland, Washington College, and Davis-Elkins.

Although both schedules will bring to George Washington the greatest array of schools against which the school has ever competed.

A tentative basketball schedule follows:

January 14—Lafayette Home
January 18—W. Va. Wesleyan Away
January 20—U. of Pittsburgh Away
January 21—Geneva Away
January 22—Duquesne Away
January 23—Penn. State Away
February 26—Wash and Lee Home
Other games pending.

TO INSTALL R. O. T. C. IN COLUMBIAN COLLEGE

Plans to establish the Reserve Officers' Training Corps in the Arts and Sciences Department of George Washington University are fast nearing completion. The unit will probably be ready for student enrollment when school opens in the fall.

All freshmen who can satisfy citizenship requirements and pass a fair medical examination will be eligible for enlistment. Provision may possibly be made to enroll members of the sophomore class. The course will cover a full four years and will lead to a commission in the Reserves upon its satisfactory completion. Uniforms will be provided by the War Department. During their third and fourth years students will receive a modest monthly compensation.

A staff of officers in charge of the unit will be established at the University in the Fall. Drill periods will be provided for and courses given in military science.

A unit of the corps has long been active in the George Washington University Medical School under the direction of Major S. M. Corbett. Approximately 80 percent of the eligible students are now enrolled. Units are also active at Georgetown and Maryland Universities.

GATE AND KEY ELECTS

At the last meeting of the Gate and Key Honorary Interfraternity Society officers were elected for the coming year. Harold M. Young was elected president, John Ketcham, vice-president, Joseph S. Rutley, secretary, and Richard K. McPherson, treasurer.

TRACKMEN WIN OVER GALLAUDET IN MEET

Defeat Kendall Green School 98-28, Completing Clean Sweep of Season

LOEHLER STARS

Only One First Place Goes to Gallaudet Runners in Track Events

By defeating Gallaudet, 98 to 28, in a dual meet Saturday, May 16, at Kendall Green, the George Washington track and field men won their third straight dual meet of the season, and kept their slate clean.

Loehler and Aaronson again were the stars, amassing a total of 40 points between them. Loehler gathered up first place in the shot-put, discus, 120-yard hurdles, 220-yard hurdles, and second in the broad jump, while Aaronson won the broad jump, tied for first with Nichols in the high jump and with Harmon in the pole vault; finished second in the javelin, and third in the 100-yard dash.

Dick Ziegler showed his heels to the field in the 100-yard dash, winning in the remarkable time of 10 flat. Aaronson and Harmon were not pushed to win the pole vault, letting it remain a tie at 9 ft. 4 in. With only Domigan and Shipley entered in the mile run, G. W. did not have any trouble securing the first two places, Domigan winning with the time of 4 min. 48 sec.

Loehler pushed the shot-put 39 ft. 1½ in., leading Byouk of Gallaudet by 6 feet. "Dog" Meister ran a heady race in the 220 and won, with Ziegler third. Hewitt and Capt. Bill Simmons had an easy time of it in the 440 dash, neither being pressed.

G. W.'s trio of two milers literally ran away from all Gallaudet opposition, Anderson finishing ahead with Willett and Domigan in the rear. Simmons and Bixby ran a gruelling race in the 880-yard run, and at the finish they were in a dead tie.

Gallaudet won their only first place of the afternoon when Rose beat out Aaronson of G. W. in the javelin throw. Byouk was high-score man for Gallaudet with seven points.

COMMEMORATE LIFE OF FAMOUS NURSE

National Hospital Day Observed In Honor of Florence Nightingale

HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Visitors Conducted on Inspection Tour By Mrs. F. W. True and Miss B. B. Thompson

National Hospital Day, May 12, was fittingly observed at the George Washington University Hospital by a reception and "Open House" inspection from one o'clock until five. Among the visitors was Doctor William Mather Lewis, President of the University.

Mrs. F. W. True, president of the Board of Lady Managers, and Miss B. B. Thompson, superintendent of nurses, received visitors in the office of the latter, which was attractively decorated with palms and flowers. Punch and fancy cakes were served.

The birthday of Florence Nightingale and her noble work were commemorated throughout the entire United States in this way. This fitting date has been set apart to make people better acquainted with hospitals; their importance, their services, and their needs.

For those in the University who were not able to attend this reception and inspection of our own hospital, it will be of interest to note some of the outstanding facts about it. The George Washington University Hospital was established in 1898 to increase the facilities for bedside and clinical teaching in the medical school.

The staff and personnel, which form the backbone of the institution, are headed by Dr. Buckner Magill Randolph, physician-in-chief, and Dr. William Cline Borden, surgeon-in-chief, and Dean of the Medical School. Dr. John Alton Reed, director of the Dispensary; Dr. Jason David Byers, superintendent of the Hospital, and Miss B. B. Thompson, superintendent of nurses, each head an important phase of work.

Besides the Superintendent and her assistant, there is a graduate nurse in charge of each floor of the hospital, and a staff of forty student nurses under them to look out for the welfare of the patients.

Although the hospital is small, the bed space being only 110, 2,500 patients were cared for within the last year, most of them in the free wards. A tribute to the efficiency of the management is due, in that during the fiscal year just past the hospital operated on a paying basis, an unusual condition in an institution of this kind. As the running expenses for the year were approximately $11,000.

Two hundred and fifty brand-new babies a year is the record of the Obstetrical Department of the Hospital. They are taken care of in an attractive nursery, where rows of dainty white bassinets hold rose-pink babies wrapped in light blue blankets.

The Dispensary treats an average of 600 patients monthly, free of charge. Many of the best physicians in the city devote part of their time to this valuable work. The Police-men's and Firemen's Clinic is in connection with this branch of work, and approximately 35 of them are treated daily.

Twice a week there is a diabetic clinic or school held for patients both in and out of the hospital. Physicians and a trained dietitian lecture to these patients and impart practical advice for self-treatment of this disease.

The emergency room is kept open continuously, and although the hospital has no ambulance, many such cases are treated.

Two diet kitchens are kept busy night and day preparing trays for patients. This alone, considering the great variety of diets required by different cases, is a stupendous task in itself.

If Florence Nightingale could return to this sphere and see the tremendous strides which the work she started has taken, she would be astounded—but thankful for the service which her followers are able to render humanity.

HOSPITAL ALUMNAE HOLD DANCE FOR NURSES HOME

George Washington Hospital Nurses Alumnae, under the direction of Mrs. W. P. Burns, president, staged a very successful dance at Corcoran Hall last Wednesday night for the benefit of the Nurses Home. A large attendance added materially to both the fund and the fun. Refreshments were served during the latter part of the dance.

Among those in attendance and in the receiving line were Dean and Mrs. Borden, Dr. and Mrs. Hunter, Dr. and Mrs. Wanlass, Mrs. F. W. True, Miss B. B. Thompson, Miss Lucy Lamon and Mrs. Elsie Ahmay.

MRS. H. L. HODGKINS ILL

Mrs. Howard L. Hodgkins, wife of Dean Hodgkins, is in Emergency Hospital as the result of a fall about 10 days ago in which she sustained a fracture of the hip.

LAW SCHOOL ADVANCED TO CLASS "A" RATING

The George Washington University Law School has just been approved as a Class A school by the Council on Legal Education of the American Bar Association, according to notice received yesterday by Dean William C. Van Vleck.

Beginning September 1, the Law School will require two years of college work for admission, and it is as a result of this advance in entrance requirements that the Law School is now rated as a Class A School.

FACULTY-PYRAMID GAME AS SEEN "IN FUTURO"

Hatchet Reporter Dreams Winners Have Walkaway With Score of 13-7

The Hatchet reporter "hit the trail" next Monday afternoon, June 1st, and after hours of weary trudging finally arrived at Eastern High School stadium where the G. W. faculty team were crossing bats with the Pyramid team. The student body turned out en masse, filling the entire bleacher section. By order of the faculty, they were seated three feet apart on every other row.

Pretty soon the University Jazz Band marched across the field and amid the lusty shouts of the cheer leaders the colors were raised. Then the Glee Club sang "Taingonna Rain Today," and the game was on.

The Faculty went into the field first. "Big Bill" Lewis was on the mound with "Gil" Hall behind the plate. "Bobby" Bolwell was on first base. As this was an afternoon affair, "Bobby" was attired for the occasion: cut-away frock, spats, wing-collar—even a buttercup in his buttonhole.

Guy Hottel went to bat first for the Pyramiders. The first ball went straight across, but Guy was waiting for a better pass. "Strike One," called Ernest Kline, official referee. "Who won?" asked a fair co-ed over in the rear of the bleachers.

The second ball went wild. Then as the third was passing in mid-air, Guy leaned on the wagon tongue and pushed the pill way over Crum's head at short and sent it sailing beyond the reach of "Johnny" Donaldson in center field. Guy tackled "Bobby" at first and knocked him for a row of "Survey" books. This not only upset his "Augustan" dignity, but disturbed his "comic spirit" as well. The ball was in "Kummy" Anderson's hands at second by this time, so Guy decided to stay at first. "This is the first time I played a ball game where the goal is just where you started," he remarked.

"Babe" Fly, shortstop, went up next. Five balls—two of them called strikes—flew by. On the next one "Babe" swung lustily and the sphere went "fly-ing" out into the domains of "Bill" Van Vleck in left field. "Van" applied the right principle of tactics and caught it, with the result that judgment was rendered against the "Babe." Then the boys in one section of the bleachers struck up a tune and sang:

"Somewhere the sun is shining,
Somewhere the sky is blue,
But here there is no joy—only pining,
For our 'Baby' Fly has flew."

Fred Youngman stepped up next with a printer's stick in his hand. But this was against the rules and only after much arguing was he persuaded to use a regulation bat instead of a "Hatchet" handle. Fred hit the first ball a nasty wallop, but it went outside the "lines." Two balls passed. Then on the next he punished his "staff" severely by knocking the ball straight into Hugh Miller's hands at third. "Hugh" engineered the pill to "Bobby" at first and as Guy had started down the line to second he was out. The Pyramiders retired with the score 0 to 0.

The Executive Committee went into secret session before resuming the game, while "Bobby" Bolwell inspected the proctor force in the bleachers.

It was in the last half of the ninth round that the excitement took place. "Bun" Tolson was on the mound, with Guy Hottel facing him back of the plate. "Gibby" Hall went up first for the Faculty. "Ball one," "strike one," "ball two," "strike two," "ball three" followed in quick succession. The next one curled around "Gibby's" neck and struck his bat.

"Walk!" ordered the umpire. "I'm constrained to believe that that was not entirely constitutional," he remarked, as he took his place beside Dave Laux at first.

"Curly" Ruediger went up next. He connected with the first ball, and Hall went to second.

"Bobby" Bolwell stepped up. "We must have a little 'renaissance' here," he remarked as he "survived" the field and swung hard at the first ball. "Strike one!"

"The critics must know the man before they can judge his works," he remarked as he missed the second.

"There is no excuse, . . ." he was about to quote when the umpire called "Strike three!" "Bobby" retired to call the roll among the bleachers.

"Bill" Lewis caught the first ball awful wallop. "Babe" flew to catch it, but was too short. Bart Corbin, out in center field, tried to nab it but

PRESIDENT SPEAKS AT FINAL CHAPEL

Constructive Spirit Theme of Dr. Lewis' Short Address To Student Body

CORCORAN HALL PACKED

Opening Days of Fall Term to Be Turned Over to Freshman Class

"We are all stockholders in the University today," said President William Mather Lewis in his final address of the year to the student body at the noon chapel exercises Friday, May 15. "Too many of our students are occupied entirely with holding up the walls of the buildings, which the architect tells me are perfectly sound," continued President Lewis.

Plans for a better equipped gymnasium and a broader field of student activities for the coming year were announced by the president. A packed assembly hall, containing at least six hundred students, greeted President Lewis as he took the platform for his short address. Last year only a small percent of that number attended the closing chapel exercises.

An eight dollar compulsory activity fee for all students was announced by the president for the coming year, to take the place of the present fee, which is eight dollars for full time students but is graded for those only attending part time.

The president expressed himself as being well pleased with the advance made by the University during the past season. He spoke of the victorious football and basketball teams, the clean sweep made of the season's track meets, and the wonderful records made by the two rifle teams of the University.

Speaking of the new proctor system used during examinations, the president said that he thought it was only fair to those students who did their work well that the examinations should be closely watched in an effort for fairness. Suspension for a semester will be the punishment for any student caught cheating in the future.

At the opening of school in September the first two days are to be turned over the freshman class, with special get-together meetings at which attendance will be compulsory. A much livelier spirit of rivalry is expected between the Freshman and Sophomore classes in the fall.

"There is one field of activity," continued the president, "in which we have exceeded all past records. That field is in social functions. The past year has been one tea dance after another. Fewer functions and more spirit behind each individual effort will be the plan in the fall."

In the interest of bringing the University to high school students of other localities, Dr. Lewis said that the Cherry Tree had been placed in two hundred high schools throughout the country.

Eugene Sweeney, "the fellow with the banjo," was called to the stage, and played and sang his new song, "Hail to the Buff and Blue." His composition has been submitted along with those of several other students to the committee which has charge of awarding the $100 prize for the best university song of original words and music offered by Louis Hertle, a member of the University Board of Trustees.

Dean Wilbur opened the assembly by leading the students in the reading of a psalm, which was followed by the song "George Washington."

GLEEMEN SIGN FOR RIALTO CONCERTS

Clinch Agreement with Rialto Management For Appearance Week of May 31

G. W.'s Male Glee Club will make its final bow of the season beginning Sunday, May 31st, when it appears on the Rialto Theater stage for a week's engagement.

The club will sing three times each day, at 3.30, 7.30 and 9.30. A fine opportunity is thus given to all students, who have not heard their club, to come out and "root" for it. Tickets good for any day in the week will be sold by the Columbian Women as a benefit for their organization. Students attending the performances can get tickets from Miss Rose in the Administration Building.

In securing this engagement with the Rialto, the Glee Club ends one of the most successful seasons in its history. It has sung in over a dozen concerts in and about Washington. Their songs have been heard in such places as Rockville, Mt. Alto, Walter Reed, St. Elizabeth's, numerous churches in the city and at various university functions.

A week ago, the night of the 18th, the Glee Club sang on the Post's radio program, broadcasted over WCAP. President Lewis preceded the club with a short address to the alumni and friends listening in.

Besides the Rialto, one more appearance will be made before the University, the Glee Club singing at the baccalaureate services next Sunday afternoon.

The members of the past season will not go unrewarded. A new feature is the adoption of a standard insignia which will be awarded by the school during the week of June 1st, at a get-together of some kind. The insignia are of two kinds, one for all one-year men who fulfill certain requirements of attendance at rehearsals and concerts, and one for all two-year men who measure up to the same requirements. The former will consist of a gold lyre surmounted by the seal of the University, set in the form of a pin. The two-year men will receive a similar insignia, except that the lyre and seal will be mounted upon a gold back to form a watch chain containing the name of the member. An incentive is thus furnished the men in that upon successful completion of the second year the pin may be exchanged for the more expressive charm.

A new feature is the adoption of a standard insignia which will be awarded by the school during the week of June 1st, at a get-together of some kind. The insignia are of two kinds, one for all one-year men who fulfill certain requirements of attendance at rehearsals and concerts, and one for all two-year men who measure up to the same requirements. The former will consist of a gold lyre surmounted by the seal of the University, set in the form of a pin. The two-year men will receive a similar insignia, except that the lyre and seal will be mounted upon a gold back to form a watch chain containing the name of the member. An incentive is thus furnished the men in that upon successful completion of the second year the pin may be exchanged for the more expressive charm.

The members of the past season will not go unrewarded. WAGNER, FOOTBALL STAR, DIES SUDDENLY

Last Minute Hospital Treatment Fails to Revive Famous Hatchetite Halfback

SICK ONLY ONE DAY

Doctors State Death Was Not Due to Any Injury From Football Playing

Dean W. Wagner, prominent student in the University and star halfback of the past year's football team, died unexpectedly at the George Washington University Hospital Saturday afternoon, May 9. His sudden death was caused by a hemorrhage of the brain, due to a diseased arterial system.

Dr. F. A. Hornaday and Dr. D. L. Borden, both graduates of the University, were emphatic in their statements that death was not due to injury received from football.

In a statement to the Hatchet, Dr. Hornaday said: "In my judgment Wagner's death could not have come as a result of any blows received while playing football. Six months have elapsed since the football season, and at this time there is hardly any likelihood of anything of this nature resulting from a football injury."

A scant six months ago 12,000 frenzied spectators were yelling at the top of their lung power as Dean Wagner took two touchdowns over Catholic University's goal line, giving the Buff and Blue eleven a victory over its ancient football rival. Wagner was the star of that Turkey Day battle, as he was the star of many other football games. For his efforts in behalf of the Hatchetmen he had been voted an issue of the Cherry Tree, with his name embossed in gold on the cover.

Death came most unexpectedly to the little half-back, of whom Coach Crum said: "Wagner was one of the best football players I ever saw for his size and weight."

Friday, May 8th, he worked at the Architectural Building at 21st and G streets, where he was employed, until about 9:00 o'clock in the evening. Returning home to the Phi Sigma Kappa House, 1834 Columbia Road, where he boarded, Wagner complained of a headache, and took some salt water before going to bed. He retired shortly after midnight, and with the exception of the headache, seemed well.

Not being able to arouse Wagner the following morning, members at Phi Sigma Kappa called Dr. Hornaday at 9:00 a. m. A second call about 9:40 reported Wagner in convulsion, and he was ordered sent to the George Washington University Hospital.

The doctor examined him there at 10 o'clock and stayed with him until his death at 2:30 the same afternoon. Dr. Borden, Dr. Speidel, oculist, and Dr. Stout, neurologist, were called in, but there was nothing which could be done for the suffering man. Convulsions occurred intermittently until death came.

Dean W. Wagner was born at Derry, Pennsylvania, July, 1901. He attended high school at Derry, where he was for four years a star football player. He attended Grove College for two years prior to his matriculation at George Washington University
